When a school is based right in the centre of a bustling city and is spread over a variety of premises, it's not surprising that it faces security issues not commonly found in other schools.

Normally straightforward issues like emergency exits take on new dimensions when such exits open onto busy public streets. Hereford Cathedral School turned to Relcross Architectural Ironmongery, via BM Ltd of Halesowen, when faced with this situation when their new gymnasium was built in 2009. Relcross in turn recommended their Von Duprin 22 CE marked escape device a stylish yet reliable range ideal for high traffic environments.
